- C 1:02 PHOTO STORY Read and listen to a conversation between two participants at the meeting in Bangkok.

Teresa: Allow me to introduce myself. I am Teresa Segovia from the Santiago office. Sawatdee-Kaa.

Surat: Where did you learn the wai? You're Chilean, aren't you?

Teresa: Yes, I am. But I have a friend in Chile from Thailand.

Surat: Well, Sawatdee-Khrab. Nice to meet you, Ms. Segovia. I'm Surat Leekpal.

Teresa: No need to be so formal. Please call me Terri.

Surat: And please call me Surat.

Teresa: OK. Surat, do you mind my asking you a question about that, though?

Surat: Not at all.

Teresa: Is it customary in Thailand for people to be on a first-name basis?

Surat: Well, at company meetings in English, always. In other situations, though, people tend to be a little more formal. It's probably best to watch what others do. You know what they say: "When in Rome . . ."

Teresa: Mm-hmm . . . , "do as the Romans do!"

*Thais greet each other with a gesture called the wai and by saying "Sawatdee-Kaa" (women) / "Sawatdee-Khrab" (men).

Global Culture

Radio Archive Favorites About Us Store FAQ

GC: Today, Global Culture is interviewing Eugenia Hartley of Jackson, Mississippi, in the U.S. about changes to culture. Ms. Hartley, culture has changed a bit since you were growing up in the forties, hasn't it?

Hartley: Oh, definitely, and maybe more so for me than for others because Jackson is in the South, which was pretty socially conservative when I was a young girl.

GC: Please tell us about some of the changes you have personally experienced.

Hartley: My heavens! Well, the new South is so different from the old South in a lot of good ways, as everyone knows. But since you ask me personally, it would probably be dating customs, the way young people talk to their elders, table manners...

GC: OK. How have those things changed?

Hartley: Well, for example, when I was growing up, the family dinner hour was the one time in the day when the family sat down together, and it was a special time. Today, that's changed. In many families, there is no dinner hour. Kids eat snacks or fast food all day, parents are working long hours and don't have time to make a proper meal, and there are so many activities that it seems like no one has time. In my day, children were more respectful and quiet at the table—we spoke when we were spoken to, we didn't put our elbows on the table, and we dressed nicely. No one came to the dinner table in shorts or jeans the way they do today.

GC: That is different, isn't it? You mentioned dating. How has that changed?

Hartley: Well, today, I see boys and girls on dates at the mall. They can't be more than twelve or thirteen years old! I wasn't allowed to go out on a proper date until I was sixteen. And when I finally was allowed to date, my parents didn't let me go out with a boy they hadn't already met. Oh, and I had a definite curfew. I had to be home by 11:00. If I came in late, I was grounded—for at least a month. It was a little different for my brother, though. I guess there was a bit of a double standard. He could go out on dates when he was sixteen, but his curfew wasn't as strict as mine. He was allowed to stay out until midnight.

GC: And you mentioned the way young people addressed their elders. How has that changed?

Hartley: Well, today you hear teens, even children, calling adults by their first names. We had to address adults as "sir" or "ma'am." And we always used Mr. and Mrs. I suppose that sounds a little old-fashioned today, doesn't it?

GC: Maybe so! Thanks so much, Ms. Hartley, for an interesting interview.

Mississippi is in the southern U.S.

Consider the Choices...

Conventional Medicine

Surgical techniques have greatly improved over the last century.

The beginnings of conventional medicine can be traced back to the fifth century BCE in ancient Greece. It is based on the scientific study of the human body and illness.

In the last century, there has been great progress in what doctors have been able to do with modern surgery and new medications. These scientific advances have made conventional medicine the method many people choose first when they need medical treatments.

Homeopathy

Homeopathic remedies are popular in many countries.

Homeopathy was founded in the late eighteenth century in Germany. It is a low-cost system of natural medicine used by hundreds of millions of people worldwide.

In homeopathy, a patient's symptoms are treated with remedies that cause similar symptoms. The remedy is taken in very diluted form: one part remedy to one trillion (1,000,000,000,000) parts water.

Acupuncture

An acupuncturist inserts needles at certain points on the body.

Acupuncture originated in China over 5,000 years ago. Today, it is used worldwide for a variety of problems.

Acupuncture needles are inserted at certain points on the body to relieve pain and/or restore health. Many believe acupuncture may be effective in helping people stop smoking as well.

Spiritual Healing

Many believe meditation or prayer may help heal disease.

Also known as faith healing, or "mind and body connection," various forms of spiritual healing exist around the world. This is a form of healing that uses the mind or religious faith to treat illness.

A number of conventional doctors say that when they have not been able to help a patient, spiritual healing just may work.

Herbs are used to treat many ailments.

Herbal Therapy

Herbal medicine, often taken as teas or pills, has been practiced for thousands of years in almost all cultures around the world. In fact, many conventional medicines were discovered by scientists studying traditional uses of herbs for medical purposes.

The World Health Organization claims that 80% of the world's population uses herbal therapies for their regular health care.

- A UNDERSTAND FROM CONTEXT Four of these words have similar meanings. Cross out the four words that don't belong. Look at the Reading again for help.

- B RELATE TO PERSONAL EXPERIENCE Discuss the questions.

- 1 Which of the treatments in the Reading have you or your family tried?
- 2 Which treatments do you think are the most effective? Why?

- C DRAW CONCLUSIONS Decide which treatment or treatments each patient would probably NOT want to try and which he or she might prefer. Explain your answers, using might, might not, must, or must not. (More than one therapy might be appropriate.)

- 1 “I definitely want to see a doctor when I have a problem. But I want to avoid taking any strong medications or having surgery.”

- 2 “I believe you have to heal yourself. You can't just expect a doctor to do everything for you.”

- 3 “I think it would be silly to try a health care method that isn't strongly supported by scientific research.”

BEFORE YOU READ

WARM-UP What are the best ways for a business to keep its customers coming back? Explain your reasons.

READING ▶ 2:11

How can I help you?

They say, "The customer is always right." That may not be completely true, but a smart business treats customers as though they are. Whether you work for a business or have your own, remember this secret: customers don't really buy services and products; they buy solutions and relationships. Here's how to keep them coming back:

Don't procrastinate! Make sure you get things done on time. Don't waste your customers' valuable time by making them wait for service. Giving customers what they want now is key to your success, and it should be at the top of your to-do list. The business that gets the job done efficiently and fast is the one that customers will come back to.

Be really reliable. If you say you are going to do something, do it. If a problem keeps you from doing it, apologize and promise to find a solution. However, avoid making promises you won't be able to keep. Treat customers right by being honest, and they will recommend you to their colleagues, friends, and family.

Stand by your products and services. The good workmanship and attention that go into your high quality product, excellent service, or reasonable prices will be appreciated. No one wants a product that falls apart or doesn't work. If that happens, take responsibility and arrange to repair it or replace it.

Be extremely friendly and courteous, as well as a good listener. Be sure your customers feel respected and heard. Pay attention to complaints as well as praise.

Always try to be helpful. Sometimes it's difficult to answer a customer's question or fulfill a request. Instead of "I don't know," say, "I may not have the answer right now, but I'll find out." Instead of "I don't have time right now," say, "I'll make time." A "can-do" attitude, even under stress, assures customers that you will treat them professionally and that you are ready and willing to help. Above all, make your customers feel important and valued, and always thank them for their business.

A INFER POINT OF VIEW Complete each statement, according to the point of view expressed in the Reading.

- If you waste your customers' time, they come back.
a will b won't
- If you don't do what you say you will do, your customers think you are reliable.

- If you aren't courteous to your customers, they complain.

In short answers, use so to replace a noun clause after the verbs think, believe, guess, and hope.

A: Does Stephen King have a new book out?

B: I think so. / I believe so. / I guess so. / I hope so.

(so = that Stephen King has a new book out)

A noun clause can also be an adjective complement.

It's interesting (that) she wrote a new book.

I'm surprised (that) he hasn't written a new novel yet.

Noun clauses often follow these verbs and adjectives.

agree	hear	disappointed
think	see	happy
believe	understand	sad
feel	hope	sorry
suppose	forget	sure
doubt	remember	surprised
guess	know

Be careful!

I don't think so. / I don't believe so.

BEFORE YOU READ

WARM-UP In what ways do you think reading something online is different from reading in print?

READING ▶ 2-29Reading Habits in Transition

Most experts agree that the Internet has fundamentally changed how we read, think, and remember things. However, whether this has had a positive or negative impact is still unknown.

How has the Internet changed the way we read? There is evidence that we are reading fewer books, particularly non-fiction. Let's say you need medical advice, cooking instructions, or biographical information. Who wants to buy a 300-page book when you can find a 300-word article on the Internet about the same subject? It's easier to read, it's free, and it's a lot faster. However, we are, in fact, reading a lot more overall. In addition to our offline reading, we read online throughout the day as we check our smart phones, surf the Internet, visit social media sites, and catch up on our e-mail.

We also do a lot more skimming and scanning on the Internet than we do when we read physical books or periodicals, such as magazines and newspapers. As we surf the Internet, we skim quickly for topics that interest us and scan for the specific information we need. A search engine puts millions of possibilities at our fingertips.

How has the Internet changed how we think and remember?

Before there was an Internet, people spent a lot of time taking notes in libraries so they could remember and recall information easily. Today, when you can use a search engine to take you to what you're looking for in an instant, that kind of concentration isn't as necessary. You can simply bookmark any page and return to it easily. However, many argue that online information sources often contain errors and can't be trusted, so we need to be more careful when we use them.

Some wonder if the Internet has made it more difficult to concentrate on one task without getting distracted by other things. We are constantly interrupted by updates from social media sites and e-mail messages. We follow links to other websites where we find more links to other websites and jump from topic to topic. We are also bombarded with a lot of junk—for example, newsfeeds about celebrities, pop-up ads about products we don't want or need, and warnings about viruses.

Some consider what we read on the Internet to be trash compared to traditional offline reading, while others see many advantages in the reading we do on the Internet. Some argue that reading on the Internet is like exercise for the brain, making it easier for us to cope with distractions and think clearly as we learn to make choices that work for us. In a recent study, 81% of those surveyed agreed that our use of the Internet has actually made us smarter. If you are a digital native—that is, someone who grew up with the Internet—that's very good news, indeed.

- A RECOGNIZE POINT OF VIEW The Reading mentions both positive and negative aspects of reading on the Internet. Summarize some of each in the chart.

Positive aspects	Negative aspects

HISTORIC DISASTERS

The influenza epidemic of 1918–1919 left an estimated 25 million people dead worldwide.

Between 2010 and 2012, 260,000 people died in Somalia in one of the worst food shortages in modern history.

In February 2013, a major blizzard hit the Northeastern U.S. with heavy snowfall and high winds. Snowfall in some areas reached 100 cm, causing travel delays, school closures, and power outages.

A DISCUSSION Discuss one or more of the topics about the content of the news.

- 1 When stories about natural disasters such as epidemics, famines, and weather emergencies appear in the news, are you interested in knowing about them? Why or why not?
- 2 Why do newspapers often put stories like this on the front page?
- 3 Not all disasters are caused by nature. What are some other kinds of disasters? What are some of their causes?

B 3:02 PHOTO STORY Read and listen to a conversation about a natural disaster.

Rachel: Oh, my goodness. Take a look at this!

Tom: Why? What's going on?

Rachel: There's this enormous flood in Slovakia—look at these people on the roof! The water's up to the second floor. And look at these cars. I sure hope there was no one in them.

Tom: That sounds horrendous. Any word on casualties?

Rachel: It says, "No reports of deaths or injuries so far . . ." But it's in the middle of a city, for goodness sake. The death toll could end up being huge.

Tom: And can you imagine the property damage?

Rachel: Well, they estimate almost 50% of the houses in town are under water already.

Tom: What a disaster!

Rachel: I wonder how this flood compares to the one they had in New Orleans a few years back. Remember that?

Tom: You bet I do. How could anyone forget? And that flooded almost half the city, too.

Rachel: Let's turn on CNN. They usually have breaking news about stuff like this.

GRAMMAR Indirect speech: Imperatives

To report what someone said without quoting the exact words, use indirect speech.
Don't use quotation marks when you write indirect speech.

Direct speech: Peter said, "Be careful if you go out during the storm."

Indirect speech: Peter said to be careful if you go out during the storm.

Indirect speech is a kind of noun clause. It is the direct object of a reporting verb such as say, tell, or ask.

An imperative in direct speech becomes an infinitive in indirect speech.

They said, "Read the weather report." → They said to read the weather report.

She says, "Don't go out without a full tank of gas." → She says not to go out without a full tank of gas.

Change the pronouns in indirect speech as necessary for logic.

Martin said, "Tell me as soon as you know." → Martin told me to tell him as soon as I know.

She told me, "Please call me when you get home." → She asked me to call her when I get home.

EARTHQUAKES

Earthquakes are among the deadliest natural disasters, causing the largest numbers of casualties, the highest death tolls, and the greatest destruction. In 1556 in China, the deadliest earthquake in history killed 830,000 people. But many other earthquakes have caused the deaths of more than 200,000 people, and it is not unusual, even in modern times, for an earthquake death toll to reach 20,000–30,000 people with hundreds of thousands left homeless and with countless injured. The floodwaters of the 2004 tsunami in Sumatra, which killed over 200,000 people, were caused by a catastrophic earthquake.

There are four factors that affect the casualty rate of earthquakes: magnitude, location, quality of construction of buildings, and timing.

MAGNITUDE

The magnitude, or strength, of an earthquake is measured on the Richter scale, ranging from 1 to 10, with 10 being the greatest. Earthquakes over 6 on the Richter scale are often deadly, and those over 8 are generally catastrophic, causing terrible damage.

LOCATION

A severe earthquake that is located far from population centers does not cause the same damage as a less severe one that occurs in the middle of a city. As an example, in 1960, the strongest earthquake ever recorded, 9.5 magnitude on the Richter scale, struck in the Pacific Ocean near the Chilean coastline, destroying buildings, killing over 2,000, and injuring another 3,000 in regional cities near the coast. The location of this earthquake, far away from a population center, however, prevented it from being catastrophic, with hundreds of thousands of deaths.

QUALITY OF CONSTRUCTION

Modern building construction techniques can lessen the death toll and economic impact of a moderate earthquake that would otherwise cause severe destruction of older-style buildings.

Port-au-Prince, 2010

In 2010, a terrible earthquake in Port-au-Prince, the capital of Haiti, caused the destruction of a tremendous number of the city's buildings, mostly due to poor construction. In contrast, an even stronger earthquake later that year in Chile caused less destruction because of that country's use of earthquake-resistant construction.

TIMING

Finally, the time of occurrence of an earthquake can affect the number of deaths and casualties. Earthquakes that occur in the night, when people are indoors, usually cause a greater death toll than ones that occur when people are outdoors.

Ten Largest Earthquakes by Magnitude

Year	Place	Magnitude
1960	Valdivia, Chile	9.5
1964	Alaska, U.S.	9.2
2004	Sumatra, Indonesia	9.1–9.3
1952	Kamchatka, Russia	9.0
2011	Tochuko region, Japan	9.0
1615	Arica, Chile	8.8
1833	Sumatra, Indonesia	8.7–9.2*
1906	Ecuador / Colombia	8.8
2010	Bio-Bio, Chile	8.8
1700	Pacific Ocean: U.S. / Canada	8.7–9.2*

The Five Most Effective Work Habits

Advice to new workers from a CEO

If you are new to the working world, you are eager to demonstrate your skills and knowledge. However, in addition to those, some basic work habits may be even more effective in promoting your success. Read the following advice to new workers, written by the head of a company.

- 1 Volunteer for assignments One of the best ways to signal that you are a keen learner and are not afraid of hard work is to volunteer for assignments. However, before volunteering for a task, be sure you have the skills and knowledge to accomplish it successfully.
- 2 Be nice to people Be nice to people regardless of their rank or position. When you are nice to people, they go out of their way to help you, and every new worker needs help in order to get ahead.
- 3 Prioritize your work We all love to start work on things that are close to our hearts. However, these may not be the most urgent and important in our list of tasks to do. Have a list of things to do according to their strategic importance to your company. When you prioritize your work, you are more productive, and that increases your chances of career success.
- 4 Stay positive As someone new in the working world, you are not used to office culture. And there may be office politics that complicate things. Try to stay above politics and remain positive in the face of challenges. When you are positive, you stay focused on your goals. You make better decisions and, therefore, get more things done.
- 5 Highlight a problem but bring solutions Offer a solution each time you highlight a problem to your boss or management. You need to remember that when you bring problems and not solutions, people may think of you as a "complainer."

These five work habits, at first glance, may seem like common sense. However, in actual working environments, people tend to forget the basics. I counsel new workers in our company to internalize this behavior and consistently use it to increase their chances of career success.

Understand English speakers from different language backgrounds.

Basma = Arabic speaker
Mi-Cha = Korean speaker

C 4.02 PHOTO STORY Read and listen to a conversation about holiday traditions.

Basma: Wow! That dress your sister's wearing is gorgeous! What was the occasion?

Mi-Cha: Oh, that was for Chuseok. The dress is called a hanbok.

Basma: Did you say Chuseok? What's that—a holiday?

Mi-Cha: That's right. It's a traditional Korean holiday. It takes place in September or October each year to celebrate the harvest.

Basma: So does everyone dress up like that?

Mi-Cha: Some people do.

Basma: So what else does everyone do on Chuseok?

Mi-Cha: We get together with our relatives. And we eat a lot!

Basma: Well, that sounds nice.

Mi-Cha: Not only that, but we go to our hometowns and visit the graves of our ancestors.

Basma: So I suppose the airports and train stations are mobbed with people, right?

Mi-Cha: Totally. And the traffic is impossible. It takes hours to get anywhere.

Basma: I think every country's got at least one holiday like that!

Mi-Cha: What holiday comes to mind for you?

Basma: It reminds me of Eid al-Adha, a four-day religious holiday we celebrate where I come from.

Mi-Cha: In what way?

Basma: Well, people put on their best clothes, and we eat a ton of great food. We also travel to be with our relatives and visit the graves of our loved ones who have died.

Mi-Cha: How about that! Sounds just like our holiday.

Holidays

Around the World

Ramadan, the Month of Fasting

"May you be well throughout the year" is the typical greeting during Ramadan, the ninth month of the Islamic calendar, a special occasion for over one billion Muslims throughout the world. According to Islamic tradition, Ramadan marks the time when Muhammad received the word of God through the Koran. Throughout the month, Muslims fast—totally abstaining from food and drink from the break of dawn until the setting of the sun. It is also a time of increased worship and giving to the poor and the community. Ramadan ends with the festival of Eid ul-Fitr—three days of family celebrations—and eating!

Worshippers pray during Ramadan.

The Chinese New Year

The Chinese New Year is celebrated by Chinese around the world and marks the beginning of the first month in the Chinese calendar. The celebration usually takes place in February and lasts for fifteen days. Before the holiday begins, families clean out their houses to sweep away bad luck, and they decorate their doors with red paper and big Chinese characters for happiness, wealth, and longevity. The night before, families gather together for a delicious meal. Outside, people set off firecrackers that make loud noises all through the night. In the morning, children wish their parents a healthy and happy new year and receive red envelopes with money inside. It is customary for people to give each other small gifts of fruits and sweets and to visit older family members. In the street, lion and dragon dancers set off more firecrackers to chase away evil spirits.

On the last day, people dance in the street carrying a large cloth dragon.

Simón Bolívar's Birthday

Simón Bolívar was born on July 24, 1783, in Caracas, Venezuela. He is known throughout Latin America as "The Liberator" because he led the fight for independence from Spain. His armies freed Venezuela, Bolivia, Colombia, Ecuador, and Peru. He is memorialized in many ways, but two countries celebrate his birthday every July 24th—Venezuela and Ecuador. On that day, schools and most general businesses are closed, and there are military parades and government ceremonies. But the malls are open, and people usually use the holiday to go shopping.

Bolívar led the fight for independence.

Jody: Look at your arm! Are those mosquito bites?

Leslie: Yeah. Ben and I got eaten alive last weekend. We went away for a second honeymoon at this cute little bed and breakfast in the mountains, but the mosquitoes were brutal.

Jody: That doesn't sound very romantic. Didn't they have screens in the windows?

Leslie: Well, they did, but ours had a big hole, and we didn't realize it until the middle of the night. What a nightmare!

Jody: Too bad you didn't bring any insect repellent. There are tons of mosquitoes in the mountains this time of year. Hello!

Leslie: We actually did have some, but it just didn't work that well. You know how Ben is—everything has to be organic and natural and . . .

Jody: Well, with all due respect to Ben, you just have to bite the bullet once in a while and use the stuff that works. Whether you like it or not, the poison is effective.

Leslie: I agree, but Ben won't hear of it. You know, next time we go away for a romantic weekend, I'm packing one of those mosquito nets to hang over the bed.

Antibiotics

Today, vaccines can prevent some of the infectious diseases that in the past resulted in serious illness and death. Fortunately, for diseases caused by bacteria (tiny organisms that can only be seen by microscope), vaccines can make the difference between life and death.

What are antibiotics?

Antibiotics are substances that work in one of two ways. Some antibiotics, such as penicillin, kill disease-causing bacteria. Others, such as tetracycline, stop them from multiplying.

History

In 1673, Dutch scientist Antonie Van Leeuwenhoek, using a microscope, discovered the existence of microorganisms. However, it wasn't known that they could cause disease until French scientist

Louis Pasteur confirmed that approximately 200 years later. Finally, in 1928, British scientist Alexander Fleming noticed that a mold, penicillium, growing in one of his petri dishes, was capable of killing bacteria, and the development of antibiotics became possible. Fleming named the active agent in the mold "penicillin" but was unable to create a drug from it.

In 1940, during the Second World War, two scientists working at Oxford University, Ernst Chain and Howard Florey, were able to make an antibacterial powder from penicillin that was safe to use on humans. Penicillin was mass-produced for use on soldiers in the war. If there had been no penicillin, many would have died from bacterial infections caused by their injuries and wounds. Soon penicillin was used for serious diseases such as pneumonia and tuberculosis, which had always caused many deaths. Fleming, Florey, and Chain received the Nobel Prize in 1945. Antibiotics changed medicine and continue today to enable people to survive conditions that would have killed them before the antibiotic age.

Overuse of antibiotics

Since their discovery and widespread use, antibiotics have been considered a wonder drug. Many common diseases, however, are caused by viruses, not bacteria, and antibiotics are not effective against them. Nevertheless, too many people use antibiotics regularly, believing they will cure viral illnesses such as common upper respiratory infections, colds, and sore throats. Why is this a problem?

First, it is a waste of money to use antibiotics to treat viruses. Our body's immune system eventually combats most viruses, and we recover without treatment. But more importantly, bacteria exposed to an antibiotic can become resistant to it, making the antibiotic less effective, or even useless. If antibiotics no longer work against infections and diseases, people will begin to die from them again.

If scientists had recognized that bacteria could develop resistance, perhaps they would have warned doctors not to use antibiotics unless a patient has a bacterial infection. Hopefully, worldwide awareness of this threat to an important class of drugs will convince us to avoid using them for conditions that don't require them.

Van Leeuwenhoek used a microscope to observe microorganisms.

Some diseases caused by bacteria

Tuberculosis
Plague
Pertussis
Streptococcal sore throat (or "strep throat")

Some diseases caused by viruses

Influenza (or "the flu")
Polio
AIDS
The common cold
Hepatitis

A FIND SUPPORTING DETAILS Answer the questions in your own words.

Explain your answers, based on information in the Reading.

- 1 What is the benefit of antibiotics?
- 2 Why are antibiotics not effective against the common cold?
- 3 Why are antibiotics effective against strep throat?
- 4 What problem has overuse of antibiotics caused?

B UNDERSTAND FROM CONTEXT Choose the correct word to complete the sentence.

- 1 (An antibiotic / A vaccine) prevents diseases from occurring.
- 2 (Bacteria / Tetracycline) can cause infectious diseases.
- 3 Bacteria are small organisms that can only be seen (in a petri dish / with a microscope).
- 4 (Penicillium / Penicillin) is a drug that kills bacteria.
- 5 The common cold and influenza are common (bacterial / upper respiratory) infections.
- 6 Some antibiotics are no longer effective because certain bacteria have developed (overuse / resistance) to antibiotics.

EXERCISES

NOW YOU CAN Discuss the impact of inventions / discoveries

A FRAME YOUR IDEAS Look at some key inventions and discoveries and how they changed people's lives.

2000 BCE: The plow loosens and turns the soil so crops can be planted efficiently.

15th Century: Johannes Gutenberg invents typesetting, resulting in the printing press, which could print more than one copy of a book.

1796: The discovery by Edward Jenner of the process of vaccination made the first successful vaccine possible.

1914: The modern zipper permits the opening and closing of clothes without buttons and buttonholes.

1940–1945: The first electronic computers, the size of a large room, enabled users to organize and examine information. The computer opened a new era of communications and research technology.

B NOTEPADDING Write your ideas about how life was before and after each invention or discovery.

C 5.03 PHOTO STORY Read and listen to a conversation about discussing politics.

Paul: What a coincidence! I was just thinking about calling you. It's been such a long time.

Carlo: It sure has. Let's sit down and catch up. . . . What are you up to these days?

Paul: Busy, busy. The office has been crazy, with the election coming up next month. You can imagine.

Carlo: But I'll bet working at a TV station is exciting. . . . Hey, Paul, do you mind if I ask you a political question? I hope it's not inappropriate. I'm not sure it's polite to ask about politics here in the U.S.

Paul: That's funny. They always say not to talk about religion or politics, but everyone does. Shoot.

Carlo: OK. Who are you planning to vote for in the election?

Paul: Well, because we're friends, I'll answer. But I should warn you that it might not be a good idea to ask just anyone that question. Some people might find it a little personal.

Carlo: Oops.

Paul: No worries. Actually, I haven't made up my mind. I'm leaning toward Clancy, though. I think he's better than the other guy.

- What does Paul mean when he says, "Busy, busy. The office has been crazy."
- Why does Carlo ask whether Paul minds if he asks him a political question?
- Why does Paul warn Carlo not to ask some people about their political opinions?

BEFORE YOU READ

EXPLORE YOUR IDEAS What is the difference between a problem and a global problem? Do you think your generation faces more serious global problems than the generation of your parents or grandparents? Explain.

READING 5:16

The following issues were most frequently mentioned in a global survey about current world problems.

CORRUPTION People all over the world complain about the corruption of police, government officials, and business leaders. Two examples of corruption are:

- A police officer takes money (a "bribe") from a driver so he doesn't give the driver a ticket for speeding.
- A company that wants to do business with a government agency offers a public official money or a gift to choose that company for the job.

Some people feel that power promotes corruption and that corruption is unavoidable. But an independent media—for example, non-government-backed newspapers, television stations, and Internet blogs—can also play an important role in exposing corruption.

POVERTY Approximately one-fifth of the world's population, over 1 billion people, earns less than US $1 a day. Each day, over a billion people in the world lack basic food supplies. And according to UNICEF, each day, 25,000 children under the age of five die of starvation or preventable infectious disease.

There are many causes of poverty, ranging from catastrophic natural events to bad economic and agricultural policies, so there's no one solution to poverty worldwide. Some people feel that wealthy nations must send aid to poorer nations, while others are concerned that nothing will help unless local corruption is reduced and bad government policies are changed.

TERRORISM Every day, we see or hear about suicide bombings and other violent acts committed against innocent people for religious or political reasons. Many ask why terrorism is on the rise.

Some social scientists believe that television and movies may contribute to growing anger. They claim that some people may feel frustrated and powerless when they measure their lives against the lives of extremely wealthy people they see in the media.

However, views about what causes terrorism can be very controversial, and many people disagree about its causes or possible solutions. While some feel that terrorism can be met with military force, others believe that people's extreme poverty and powerlessness must be reduced to make a difference.

RACISM AND DISCRIMINATION Racism (the belief that one's own race or ethnic group is superior to others) and racial and ethnic discrimination (treating members of other groups unfairly) exist in many places. These two common problems cause human rights violations all over the world. In some cases a more powerful ethnic or racial group justifies the domination and, horribly, even the complete destruction of ethnic or racial minorities they consider to be inferior. When taken to this extreme, genocides such as the European Holocaust and the massacre in Sudan have threatened to wipe out entire peoples.

Can racism and discrimination be eliminated—or are these simply unfortunate features of human nature? Many people believe that education can help build tolerance of the "other" and may contribute to creating a more peaceful world.

A UNDERSTAND FROM CONTEXT Match each definition with a word from the box.

- 1 a lack of necessary money to survive
- 2 the attempt to destroy all members of a racial or ethnic group
- 3 judging or harming people because of their racial or ethnic heritage
- 4 money paid or some other reward given to a person to perform a dishonest or unethical act or to provide a favor
- 5 the abuse of power by people in government or business
- 6 the belief that other racial or ethnic groups are inferior to one's own

- a a bribe
b genocide
c poverty
d corruption
e discrimination
f racism

B ACTIVATE LANGUAGE FROM A TEXT Based on the information in the Reading, cross out the one word or phrase in each row that is unrelated to the others. Explain your reasoning.

1	people	politics	ethnic groups	races
2	money	property	income	racism
3	bribe	corruption	discrimination	money
4	hunger	starvation	domination	lack of food
5	racism	business	discrimination	prejudice

C CRITICAL THINKING Discuss each of the following.

- 1 Reread the section on corruption in the Reading. What do all acts of corruption have in common? Do you think it is possible to end corruption, or do you feel that it is a part of human nature? Use specific examples in your discussion.
- 2 What are some of the causes of poverty, and what are its effects?
- 3 In your opinion, why do people engage in acts of terrorism? Is terrorism an expression of power or powerlessness and frustration? Provide examples to support your opinion.
- 4 What reasons do people have to hate other groups? Is hatred of another group ever understandable, appropriate, or justified? Explain the reasons for your opinion.
- 5 Do you see a single problem connecting all four issues in the Reading? If so, what is it?

EXERCISES

NOW YOU CAN Propose solutions to global problems

Max: Max Belli. From Labro, Italy. Have you heard of it?
Frank: I can't say I have.
Max: It's a very small town about 20 kilometers north of Rome.

Frank: Actually, we just got back from there yesterday.
Max: What a coincidence! Was it worth seeing?
Frank: Spectacular. You don't want to miss it.

Frank: But be sure to take it slow on the path down to the bottom of the falls. It can get pretty wet and slippery.
Max: Thanks for the warning. What if we want to get a look at the Arenal Volcano, too? Do you think that's doable in two days?
Frank: No problem. The volcano's only about twenty minutes west of La Fortuna by car. So I'm sure you could handle them both.

B DISCUSSION What do you already know about global warming? What causes it? What effect is it having on the environment?

READING ▶ 5:43

Choose Clean Energy and Help Curb Global Warming

Compact fluorescent light bulbs use less electricity.

Fossil fuels such as oil, coal, and natural gas provide energy for our cars and homes, but increase the amount of carbon dioxide (CO₂) in the air, contributing to climate change in the form of global warming. However, there are choices we can make that can lessen their negative impact on the environment.

Get moving—Take good care of your car and keep your tires properly inflated with air. You will use less gasoline and save money. Better yet, skip the drive and walk, take public transportation, or ride a bicycle when you can.

Upgrade—Replace your old refrigerator or air conditioner with a new energy-efficient model. Not only will you save money on your electric bill, but you'll contribute to cutting back on the pollution that causes global warming.

See the light—Use new energy-saving compact fluorescent light bulbs. They produce the same amount of light as older incandescent bulbs, but they use 75% less electricity and last much longer.

Cut back—Try to reduce the amount of water you use for showers, laundry, and washing dishes. And turn the temperature on your hot water heater down.

Recycle—Use products that are recycled from old paper, glass, and metal to reduce energy waste and pollution by 70 to 90%. And before you toss things in the garbage, think about what you can reuse.

Think local—Shipping foods over long distances is a waste of energy and adds to pollution. In addition, the pesticides and chemicals used to grow them are bad for the environment. So buy locally grown fruits and vegetables instead.

Speak out—Talk to lawmakers about your interest in curbing global warming. Support their attempts to improve standards for fuel efficiency, to fund renewable and clean energy solutions, such as wind and solar power, and to protect forests.

The effects of global warming

- An increase in floods, droughts, tornadoes, and other extreme weather conditions
- A rise in sea levels, causing flooding in coastal areas
- Higher sea surface temperatures, endangering sea life
- The shrinking of glaciers, leading to a decrease in fresh water for rivers and less energy production
- A loss of tropical forests, an increase in arid lands, more forest fires, and a loss of animal and plant species
- A decrease in agricultural yields, leading to famine

Clean, renewable energy solutions like wind power can help curb global warming.

A UNDERSTAND FROM CONTEXT Find and underline each of the following words or phrases in the Reading. Then use your understanding of the words to write definitions.

- | | |
|------------------------|-----------------|
| 1 fossil fuels | 4 reduce |
| 2 global warming | 5 curbing |
| 3 inflated | 6 a rise |

B CRITICAL THINKING Discuss the questions.

- The article mentions fossil fuels as a major source of energy. What two other sources of energy are mentioned? How are they different from fossil fuels?
- Look at the list of the effects of global warming in the Reading. What impact could they have on these aspects of your country's economy: tourism, food production, housing, and disaster relief?

C SUMMARIZE Review the Reading again. Then close your book. With a partner, discuss and make a list of the ways the Reading suggests you can help curb global warming.

NOW YOU CAN Discuss solutions to global warming

A NOTEPADDING What do you do in your daily life that might contribute to the energy waste and pollution that causes global warming? Make a list on your notepad.

at home:
at work:
at school:
In transportation:
other:

C DISCUSSION Do you agree with the suggestions in the Reading? Discuss the value of trying to take personal actions to help curb global warming. Talk about:

- what you are doing now.
- what you'd like to do in the future.
- what you think is not worth doing.

RECYCLE THIS LANGUAGE.

Are you in favor of ____?
 I think / don't think it's a good idea to ____.
 I'm against ____.
 That's true, but ____.
 I see what you mean, but ____.
 Well, on the one hand, ____ But, on the other hand, ____.
 That's one way to look at it, but ____.
 That depends.
 We'll have to agree to disagree.

Text-mining (optional)

Find and underline three words or phrases in the Reading that were new to you. Use them in your Discussion.
 For example: "a waste of energy."

B PAIR WORK Compare notepads with a partner. Discuss what you think each of you could do to help cut down on energy waste and pollution.

“ I don't really recycle everything I can right now, but I'd like to. I think it would be better for the environment if I did. ”

“ I want to buy energy-efficient light bulbs, but they're more expensive than the regular kind. ”

UNIT 2 Lesson 1

Draw conclusions with probably and most likely

You can draw conclusions with less certainty than must by using probably or most likely.

Probably and most likely frequently occur after the verb be or when be is part of a verb phrase.

They're probably (OR They're most likely) at the dentist's office.
 It's probably (OR It's most likely) going to rain.

Use probably or most likely before isn't or aren't. With is not or are not, use probably before not.

She probably (OR They're most likely) isn't feeling well.
 She's probably (OR It's most likely) not feeling well.

Use probably or most likely before other verbs.

He probably (OR most likely) forgot about the appointment.
 The dentist probably (OR most likely) doesn't have time to see a new patient.

You can also use Probably or Most likely at the beginning of a sentence to draw a conclusion.

Probably (OR Most likely) she's a teacher.
Probably (OR Most likely) he forgot about the appointment.

Be careful! Don't use probably or most likely after verbs other than be.

Don't say: He ~~forgot-probably~~ about the appointment.
 Don't say: He ~~forgot-most-likely~~ about the appointment.

On a separate sheet of paper, rewrite each sentence with probably or most likely.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1 He must have a terrible cold. | 4 The dentist must not be in her office today. |
| 2 She must be feeling very nauseous. | 5 Acupuncture must be very popular in Asia. |
| 3 They must not like going to the dentist. | 6 A conventional doctor must have to study for a long time. |

UNIT 2 Lesson 2

Expressing possibility with maybe

Maybe most frequently occurs at the beginning of a sentence.
Maybe he'll need an X-ray. (= He may need an X-ray.)

Be careful! Don't confuse maybe and may be.

She may be a doctor.
NOT She maybe a doctor.
Maybe she's a doctor.
NOT May-be she's a doctor.

On a separate sheet of paper, rewrite each sentence with maybe.

- 1 His doctor may use herbal therapy.
- 2 Conventional medicine may be the best choice.
- 3 The doctor may want to take a blood test.
- 4 She may prefer to wait until tomorrow.
- 5 They may be afraid to see a dentist.

UNIT 3 Lesson 1

Causative make to indicate obligation

The causative make is used to express the idea that one person forces another to do something. Use a form of make + an object and the base form of a verb.

	object	base form
They make	their kids	finish	their homework before dinner.
She made	him	sign	the form.

A Complete the statements and questions, using the causative make. Use the correct form of make.

- 1 Yesterday, (Nick's mother / make / apologize / him) for his mistake.
- 2 (you / be going to / make / tell / your friends) the truth?
- 3 (our teacher / might / make / turn off / us) our phones.
- 4 (we / should / make / pay / your sister) for dinner?
- 5 (no one / not can / make / come / Gail) to the meeting if she doesn't want to.
- 6 If you go to that restaurant, (they / will / your husband / make / wear) a tie.
- 7 The movie was awful! (we / can / make / give / the theater) our money back?

Let to indicate permission

Use an object and the base form of a verb with let.

	object	base form
She let her sister		wear her favorite skirt.

Be careful!

Don't say: She let her sister ~~to wear~~ her favorite skirt.
Don't use an infinitive after let.

Let has the same meaning as permit. Use let to indicate that permission is being given to do something.

My boss let me take the day off.
I don't let my children stay out after 9:00 P.M.

B On a separate sheet of paper, rewrite each sentence, using let.

- 1 Don't permit your younger brother to open the oven door.

- 3 We don't permit our daughter to eat a lot of candy.
- 4 I wouldn't permit my youngest son to go to the mall alone.
- 5 Will you permit your children to see that movie?
- 6 You should permit them to make their own decision.
- 7 We always permit him to stay out late.

Causative have: common errors

Be careful! Don't confuse the simple past tense causative have with the past perfect auxiliary have.

I had them call me before 10:00. (They called me.)

I had called them before 10:00. (I called them.)

- C Who did what? Read each sentence. Complete each statement. Follow the example.

We had them fix the car before our trip.

- 4 Mr. Gates had them open the bank early.

..... opened

UNIT 3 Lesson 2

The passive causative: the by phrase

Use a by phrase to add specific or important information. If knowing who performed the action is not important, you don't need to include a by phrase.

I had my dress shortened by someone at the shop next to the train station. (not necessary)

I had my luggage delivered to my room by someone at the hotel front desk. (specific information)

On a separate sheet of paper, use the cues to write advice about services, using You should and the passive causative get or have. Use a by phrase if the information is specific or important.

shoe / repair / Mr. B / at the Boot Stop

You should get your shoes repaired by Mr. B at the Boot Stop.

- 1 picture / frame / Lydia / at Austin Custom Framing

- 2 hair / cut / one of the great hairdressers / at the Curl Up Hair Salon

- 3 photos / print / someone / at the mall

- 4 a suit / make / Luigi / at Top Notch Tailors

- 5 sweaters / dry-clean / someone / at Midtown Dry Cleaners

UNIT 4 Lesson 1

Verbs that can be followed by noun clauses with that

The following verbs often have noun clauses as their direct objects. Notice that each verb expresses a kind of "mental activity." In each case, it is optional to include that.

She agrees thinks believes feels (that) the students should work harder.

I assume suppose doubt guess (that) they made reservations.

We hear

hope (that) the government has a new plan.

He forgot noticed remembered

knew (that) the stores weren't open.

They decided discovered

hoped learned (that) everyone could pass the test.

Adjectives that can be followed by clauses with that

Use a clause with that after a predicate adjective of emotion to further explain its meaning.

I'm	afraid angry	(that) we'll have to leave early.	He's	sorry unhappy	(that) the flight was canceled.
We're	worried ashamed	(that) we won't be on time to the event.	She's	surprised disappointed	(that) the news spread so fast.
They're	happy sad	(that) the teacher is leaving.

On a separate sheet of paper, complete each sentence in your own way. Use clauses with that.

- (Your own idea)
- (Your own idea)

UNIT 4 Lesson 2

Embedded questions with whether

You can also use whether to begin embedded yes / no questions. Whether has the same meaning as if.

Tell me if that magazine is interesting. = Tell me whether that magazine is interesting.

I'd like to know if he liked the article. = I'd like to know whether he liked the article.

Could you tell me if you've finished that newspaper? = Could you tell me whether you've finished that newspaper?

A On a separate sheet of paper, rewrite each embedded question, using whether.

- I can't remember if there's a test today.
- We're not sure if the restaurant is still open at 10:00 P.M.
- Could you tell me if the movie has started yet?
- I wonder if this hotel has 24-hour room service.
- Would she like to know if there's an express train?
- Do you know if this book has a happy ending?

Embedded questions: usage and common errors

You can use an embedded question to ask for information more politely.

Are we late? → Can you tell me if we're late?

What time is it? → Can you tell me what time it is?

Why isn't it working? → Could you explain why it isn't working?

Where's the bathroom? → Do you know where the bathroom is?

How do I get to the bank? → Would you mind telling me how I get to the bank?

Be careful! Do not invert the subject and verb in embedded questions. Use regular statement word order.

Do you know why she won't read the newspaper?

Don't say: Do you know why won't she read the newspaper?

Can you tell me whether this bus runs express?

Don't say: Can you tell me does this bus run express?

Let's ask . . .	Would you mind telling me . . . ?
I wonder . . .
I'm not sure . . .

Embedded questions: punctuation

Sentences with embedded questions are punctuated according to the meaning of the whole sentence.

If an embedded question is in a statement, use a period.

I don't know (something) → I don't know who she is.

If an embedded question is in a question, use a question mark.

Can you tell me (something) → Can you tell me who she is?

- B On a separate sheet of paper, combine each phrase and question to write a statement or question with an embedded question.

- 1 Please let me know (When does the movie start?)
- 2 I wonder (Where is the subway station?)
- 3 Can you tell me (How do you know that?)
- 4 We're not sure (What should we bring for dinner?)
- 5 They'd like to understand (Why doesn't Pat want to come to the meeting?)
- 6 Please tell the class (Who painted this picture?)

- C On a separate sheet of paper, rewrite each question more politely, using noun clauses with embedded questions. Begin each one with a different phrase. Follow the example.

- 1 What time does the concert start?
- 2 How does this new e-reader work?
- 3 Why is the express train late?

- 5 Do you remember where did he use to live?
- 6 I'm not sure why do they keep calling me.
- 7 I wonder will she come on time?

UNIT 5 Lesson 1

Direct speech: punctuation rules

When writing direct speech, use quotation marks to indicate the words the speaker actually said. Put final punctuation marks before the second quotation mark.

Jeremy said, "Don't answer the phone."

Use a comma after the verb or verb phrase that introduces the quoted speech.

They said, "Call me after the storm."

Begin the quoted speech with a capital letter.

I said, "Please come to dinner at nine."

- A On a separate sheet of paper, write and punctuate each of the statements in direct speech. Follow the example.

They said tell us when you will be home

They said, "Tell us when you will be home."

- 1 Martin told me don't get a flu shot
- 2 My daughter said please pick me up after school
- 3 The English teacher said read the newspaper tonight and bring in a story about the weather
- 4 We said please don't forget to listen to the news
- 5 They said don't buy milk

- B On a separate sheet of paper, change each statement in indirect speech to direct speech.

They told us to be home before midnight.

They told us, "Be home before midnight."

- 1 The sign downtown said to pack emergency supplies before the storm.
- 2 Your daughter called and told me to turn on the radio and listen to the news about the flood.
- 3 Your parents said not to call them before 9 A.M.
- 4 Mr. Rossi phoned to tell me not to go downtown this afternoon.

UNIT 5 Lesson 2

Indirect speech: optional tense changes

When the reporting verbs say or tell are in the simple past tense, it is not always necessary to use a different tense in indirect speech from the one the speaker used. These are three times when it's optional:

When the statement refers to something JUST said:

I just heard the news. They said a storm is coming. OR

I just heard the news. They said a storm was coming.

When the quoted speech refers to something that's still true:

May told us she wants to get a flu shot tomorrow. OR May told us she wanted to get a flu shot tomorrow.

When the quoted speech refers to a scientific or general truth:

They said that English is an international language. OR

They said that English was an international language.

Be careful! Remember that when the reporting verb is in the present tense, the verb tense in indirect speech does not change.

They say a big storm is expected to arrive tomorrow morning.

Don't say: They say a big storm was expected to arrive tomorrow morning.

On a separate sheet of paper, write each direct speech statement in indirect speech. Change the verb in the indirect speech only if necessary.

- 1 Last Friday my husband said, "I'm going to pick up some things at the pharmacy before the storm." (The storm hit on Saturday.)
- 2 My next-door neighbors said, "We're going to Spain on vacation this year."
- 3 She told them, "This year's flu shot is not entirely protective against the flu."
- 4 He just said, "The danger of a flood is over."
- 5 We always say, "It's easier to take the train than drive."
- 6 When I was a child, my parents told me, "It's really important to get a good education." (They still believe that today.)
- 7 The National Weather Service is saying, "Tonight's weather is terrible."
- 8 Your parents just told me, "We want to leave for the shelter immediately." (The storm is almost here.)

UNIT 6 Lesson 1

Expressing the future: review

These forms can express or imply the future:

The present continuous

My tooth has been killing me all week. I'm calling the dentist tomorrow.
What are you doing this afternoon? I'm going to the beach.

The simple present tense

The office is usually open until 9:00, but it closes at 6:00 tomorrow.

Although should, could, ought to, may, might, can, and have to are not future forms, they often imply a future action.

You could catch the next bus. We should call her next week.

A Read each sentence. Check the sentences that have future meaning.

- | | |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> 1 Hannah is studying English this month. | <input type="checkbox"/> 6 I'm taking my daughter out for dinner tonight. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> 2 Nancy studies English in the evening. | <input type="checkbox"/> 7 I'm eating dinner with my daughter. Can I call you back? |
| <input type="checkbox"/> 3 You should call me tomorrow. | <input type="checkbox"/> 8 The class always starts at 2:00 and finishes at 4:00. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> 4 He might have time to see you later. | <input type="checkbox"/> 9 We may stay another week in Paris. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> 5 My parents are arriving at 10:00. | |

The future with will and be going to: review

Use will or be going to to make a prediction or to indicate that something in the future will be true. There is no difference in meaning.

Getting a new car will cost a lot of money. = Getting a new car is going to cost a lot of money.

Use be going to to express a plan.

My tooth has been killing me all week. I'm going to call a dentist. NOT ~~I will call~~ a dentist.

Be careful! Will is also used for willingness. This use of will doesn't have a future meaning. Be going to cannot be used for willingness.

A: Is it true that you won't go to the dentist?

B: I'll go to the dentist, but I don't like fillings. NOT ~~I'm going to go~~ to the dentist, but . . .

B Complete the conversations, using will or be going to.

UNIT 6 Lesson 2

Regrets about the past: wish + the past perfect; should have and ought to have

Wish + the past perfect

I wish I had married later in life. And I wish I hadn't married Celine!
Do you wish you had bought that car when it was available?

Should have and ought to have + past participle

Ought to have has the same meaning as should have.

I should have married later in life. = I ought to have married later in life.

I shouldn't have married Celine. = I ought not to have married Celine.

Note: American English speakers commonly use should have instead of ought to have in negative statements and in questions.

- A On a separate sheet of paper, rewrite the statements and questions, changing wish + the past perfect to should have or ought to have.

She wishes she had had children. (ought to)

She ought to have had children.

- 1 Do you wish you had studied Swahili? (should)
- 2 I wish I had gone to New Zealand instead of Australia. (ought to)
- 3 Do you wish you had taken the job at the embassy? (should)
- 4 I wish I hadn't studied law. (should)

- B Answer each question with a statement using wish + the past perfect.

2 Lauren said, "I shouldn't have bought this car." What does Lauren wish?

3 Carl's wife said, "You should have bought a convertible." What does Carl's wife wish?

4 Ms. Baker said, "The students should have studied more for the exam." What does Ms. Baker wish?

UNIT 7 Lesson 1

Reciprocal pronouns: each other and one another

Each other and one another have the same meaning, but one another is more formal.

People give each other (or one another) gifts.
Friends send each other (or one another) cards.

Be careful!

Reciprocal pronouns don't have the same meaning as reflexive pronouns.

They looked at themselves. (Each person looked in a mirror or at a photo.)

The singer was terrible. + He sang in the restaurant.

UNIT 8 Lesson 1

Real and unreal conditionals: review

- Real (or "factual") conditionals express the present or future results of real conditions.

Present or everlasting results: Use the present of be or the simple present tense in both clauses.

If I speak slowly, people understand me.

If the temperature of water rises above 100 degrees Celsius, it turns to steam.

Future results: Use the present of be or the simple present tense in the if clause. Use a future form (future with will or present continuous for the future) in the result clause.

If I'm late, I'll disturb the others at the meeting.

- Unreal conditionals express the results of conditions that don't exist. Use the simple past tense or were in the if clause. Use would + a base form in the result clause. The order of the clauses can be reversed.

If I bought a more economical car, I wouldn't worry so much about the price of gasoline.

If he were here, he would tell us about his trip.

Remember: The order of the clauses in conditional sentences can be reversed. It's customary to use a comma after the if clause when it comes first.

If you buy a food processor, you won't need to buy a blender.

You won't need to buy a blender if you buy a food processor.

Remember: Conditional sentences have two clauses: an if clause and a result clause.

- Don't use a future form in an if clause. Don't say: If I will be late, I'll disturb the others at the meeting.
- Don't use would in an if clause. Don't say: If he would be here, he would tell us about his trip.

- A Correct the errors in the conditional sentences. More than one correct answer may be possible.

- If you will take a good picture, it can preserve memories of times you might forget.
- If I was you, I would send them an e-mail right away.

- He won't eat at that restaurant if they would tell him he had to wear formal clothes.

Clauses after wish

Use were or the simple past tense after wish to express a regret about something that's not true now.

I wish my laptop were top-of-the-line. (But it's not top-of-the-line.)

I wish I had a Brew Rite digital coffeemaker. (But I don't have one.)

Remember: Use the past perfect after wish to express a regret about something that was not true in the past.

Sean wishes he hadn't sold his car. (But he did sell it.)

Sean wished he hadn't sold his car. (But he did.)

Use the conditional (would + a base form) after wish to express a desire in the present that something will occur in the future or on an ongoing basis.

I wish it would rain. (a desire for a future occurrence)

I wish it would rain more often. (a desire for something to occur on an ongoing basis)

Use would and a base form after wished to express a wish one had in the past for a future occurrence.

Yesterday I wished it would rain, but it didn't. (a past wish for a future occurrence)

Many nouns can be used as count or non-count nouns, but the meaning is different.

UNIT 9 Lesson 2

Gerunds and Infinitives: review of form and usage

Form

Gerunds: A gerund is a noun formed from a verb. All gerunds end in -ing. To form a gerund, add -ing to the base form of a verb.

discuss → discussing

If the base form ends in a silent -e, drop the -e and add -ing.

vote → voting

In verbs of one syllable, if the last three letters are a consonant-vowel-consonant* (CVC) sequence, double the last consonant and then add -ing to the base form.

CVC

s i t → sitting

BUT: If the base form of the verb ends in -w, -x, or -y, don't double the final consonant.

blow → blowing fix → fixing say → saying

* Vowels = a, e, i, o, u
* Consonants = b, c, d, f, g, h, j, k, l, m, n, p, q, r, s, t, v, w, x, y, z

If a base form has more than one syllable and ends in a consonant-vowel-consonant sequence, double the last consonant only if the spoken stress is on the last syllable.

permit → permitting BUT order → ordering

Infinitives: An infinitive is also a verbal noun. It is formed with to + the base form of a verb.

elect → to elect persuade → to persuade

Usage

Gerunds can be subjects, objects, and subject complements within sentences.

Discussing politics is my favorite activity. (subject)

I love reading about government. (direct object of verb love)

I read a book about voting. (object of preposition about)

My favorite pastime is watching TV news. (subject complement after be)

Infinitives function as subjects, direct objects, and subject complements.

To hang out all day discussing politics would be my favorite weekend activity. (subject)

I love to guess who's going to win elections. (direct object of verb love)

My greatest dream for the future is to work in the government. (subject complement after be)

- A Using the sentences in the grammar presentation above as a model, write pairs of sentences on a separate sheet of paper, using the gerunds and infinitives in the two ways shown.

- 1 voting
 - a (as the subject of a sentence)
 - b (as a direct object)
- 2 smoking
 - a (as a direct object)
 - b (as an object of the preposition to)
- 3 censoring
 - a (as the object of the preposition of)
 - b (as a subject complement)

- 4 to permit
 - a (as the subject of a sentence)
 - b (as a direct object)
- 5 to lower
 - a (as a direct object)
 - b (as the subject of a sentence)

Gerunds and Infinitives: review of usage after certain verbs

Certain verbs are followed by gerunds:

avoid, can't stand, discuss, dislike, enjoy, feel like, (don't) mind, practice, quit, sick of, suggest

Other verbs are followed by infinitives:

agree, choose, decide, expect, hope, learn, need, plan, seem, want, wish, would like

Other verbs can be followed by either a gerund or an infinitive:

begin, continue, hate, like, love, prefer

For a review of gerunds and infinitives, see the Reference Charts on page 126.

- B Complete the paragraph with gerunds or infinitives. When either a gerund or an infinitive would be correct, fill in the blank with both forms.

I hope some positive changes in my life, and I would like right away. I have observed that a lot of people enjoy about the political situation, but they don't like anything about it. They love the news and they care about all the poor people who don't have enough to eat, but they don't feel like anything to change the situation. They worry about poverty, but they don't mind money on stupid things they don't need Well, I'm sick of about how people are suffering, and I've agreed a political action group. I simply hate anything!

Be careful! Too comes before an adjective, but enough comes after an adjective.

It's too far to walk.

Writing Booster

The Writing Booster is optional. It is intended to orient students to the conventions of written English. Each unit's Writing Booster is focused both on a skill and its application to the Writing exercise from the Unit Review page.

UNIT 1 Formal e-mail etiquette

Social e-mails between friends are informal and have almost no rules. Friends use "emoticons" and abbreviations and don't mind seeing spelling or grammar errors.

Emoticons

- ☺ = I'm smiling.
- ☹ = I'm not happy.

Abbreviations

- LOL = "Laughing out loud"
- LMK = "Let me know"
- BTW = "By the way"
- IMHO = "In my humble opinion"

However, e-mail is also commonly used in business communication between people who have a more formal relationship. When writing a more formal e-mail, it is not acceptable to use the same informal style you would use when communicating with a friend.

For formal e-mails . . .

Do:

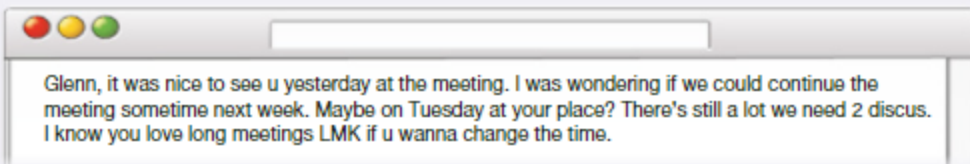

- Use title and last name and a colon in the salutation, unless you are already on a first-name basis:
Dear Mr. Samuelson:
Dear Dr. Kent:
If you are on a first-name basis, it's appropriate to address the person with his or her first name:
Dear Marian:
Write in complete sentences, not fragments or run-on sentences.
Check and correct your spelling.
Use capital and lowercase letters correctly.
Use correct punctuation.

- Use a complimentary close as in a formal letter, such as:
Sincerely, Cordially, Thank you, Thanks so much.
- End with your name, even though it's already in the e-mail message bar.

Don't:

- Use emoticons.
- Use abbreviations such as "LOL" or "u" for "you."
- Use all lowercase or uppercase letters.
- Date the e-mail the way you would a written letter. (The date is already in the headings bar.)

- A Circle all the formal e-mail etiquette errors in the e-mail to a business associate. Then explain your reasons.

- B Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 12) Use the do's and don'ts for formal e-mails to check the two e-mail messages you wrote.

UNIT 2 Comparisons and contrasts

COMPARISONS: Use this language to compare two things:

To introduce similarities

- be alike
Herbal medicine and homeopathy are alike in some ways.
- be similar to
Homeopathy is similar to conventional medicine in some ways.

To provide details

- both
Both herbal medicine and homeopathy are based on plants. / Herbal medicine and homeopathy are both based on plants.
- and . . . too

- and . . . (not) either
Herbal medicine doesn't use medications, and homeopathy doesn't either.
- also
Many of the medications in conventional medicine also come from plants.
- as well
Many of the medications in conventional medicine come from plants as well.
- Likewise,
Herbs offer an alternative to conventional medications. Likewise, homeopathy offers a different approach.
- Similarly,
Similarly, homeopathy offers a different approach.

CONTRASTS: Use this language to contrast two things: To introduce differences

- be different from
Conventional medicine is different from acupuncture in a number of ways.

To provide details

- but
Herbal medicine treats illness with herbs, but acupuncture mainly treats illness with needles.
- while / whereas
Herbal medicine treats illness with herbs while (or whereas) acupuncture treats illness with needles. OR While (or Whereas) herbal medicine treats illness with herbs, acupuncture treats illness with needles.
- unlike
Spiritual healing involves taking responsibility for one's own healing, unlike conventional medicine. OR Unlike conventional medicine, spiritual healing involves taking responsibility for one's own healing.
- However,
Conventional doctors routinely treat heart disease with bypass surgery. However, acupuncturists take a different approach.
- In contrast,
Herbal doctors treat illnesses with teas made from plants. In contrast, conventional doctors use medicines and surgery.
- On the other hand,
Conventional medicine is based on modern scientific research. On the other hand, herbal therapy is based on centuries of common knowledge.

A On a separate sheet of paper, make comparisons, using the cues in parentheses.

- 1 There's nothing scarier than having a toothache while traveling. Feeling short of breath while on the road can be a frightening experience. (likewise)
- 2 Many painkillers can be bought without a prescription. Many antihistamines can be bought without a prescription. (both)
- 3 A broken tooth requires a visit to the dentist. A lost filling requires a visit to the dentist. (and . . . too)
- 4 You may have to wait for the results of an X-ray. The results of a blood test may not be ready for several days. (similarly)
- 5 An X-ray doesn't take much time to do. A blood test doesn't take much time to do. (and . . . not / either)

B On a separate sheet of paper, make contrasts, using the cues in parentheses.

- 1 If you feel pain in your back, you can try taking a painkiller. If you have pain in your chest, you should see a doctor. (on the other hand)
- 2 Homeopathy is fairly common in Europe. It is not as popular in the United States. (while)

C Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 24) Write three statements that show similarities in the two medical treatments you chose to write about and three statements that contrast them. Use the language of comparison and contrast in each statement. Use these statements in your writing.

UNIT 3 Supporting an opinion with personal examples

Use these expressions to state your opinions. Follow the punctuation style in the examples.

- In my opinion,
In my opinion, there's nothing wrong with being a procrastinator. People just have different personalities.
- To me,
To me, it's better to be well organized. Being a procrastinator keeps a person from getting things done.
- From my point of view,
From my point of view, if you aren't well organized, you're going to have a lot of problems in life.
- I believe
I believe that people who are procrastinators have other strengths, such as creativity.
- I find
I find being well organized helps a person get more done.

Use personal examples to make your opinions clear and interesting to readers.

- For example,
I'm usually on time in everything I do. For example, I always pay my bills on time.
- For instance,
My brother is usually on time in everything he does, but sometimes he isn't. For instance, last week he completely forgot to get our mother a birthday gift.
- ... such as ...
There are a few things I tend to put off, such as paying bills and studying for tests.
- Whenever
Some people have a hard time paying their bills on time. Whenever my husband receives a bill, he puts it on the shelf and forgets about it.
- Every time
Every time I forget to pay a bill, I feel terrible.
- When I was ...
I had to learn how to be well organized. When I was a child, my parents did everything for me.

Note: All of these expressions for stating your opinion can be used either at the beginning of a sentence or at the end. Use a comma before the expression when you use it at the end of a sentence.

There's nothing wrong with being a procrastinator, in my opinion.
Being well-organized helps a person get more done, I find.

Be careful!

Do not use for example or for instance to combine sentences. Don't write: I'm usually on time for everything I do, ~~for example~~, I always pay my bills on time.

Remember:

Use a comma before such as when it introduces a dependent clause.

- A On a separate sheet of paper, write a sentence expressing your personal opinion in response to each of the questions.

- 1 Do you think children should study the arts in school?
- 2 Do you think extroverts are better people than introverts?
- 3 Do you think it's OK to wear casual clothes in an office?

- B On a separate sheet of paper, provide a personal example for each of the statements.

- 1 I'm (I'm not) a very well-organized person.
- 2 Some (None) of the people I know procrastinate.
- 3 I always (I don't always) pay my bills on time.
- 4 I've always (I've never) had a hard time doing things on time.

- C Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 36) State your opinion on the topic. Then list at least five personal examples to support your view. Use the examples in your writing.

UNIT 4 Summarizing

A good summary provides only the main ideas of a much longer reading, movie, or event. It should not include lots of details. Here are two effective ways to write a summary:

- 1 Answer basic information questions: For a longer reading, one approach to writing a summary is to think about the answers to the basic questions of: Who?, What?, When?, Where?, Why?, and How?
- 2 Focus on main ideas instead of details: For a shorter reading, identify the main ideas. Sentences that are main ideas provide enough information to tell the story. After you have identified the sentences that express the main ideas, rewrite them in your own words.

Some basic information questions:

Who is the book about?

The book I read is about Benito Juárez.

Who was Juárez?

Juárez was the president of Mexico from 1861 to 1872.

Why was he important?

He restored the Republic and modernized the country.

- A Practice answering basic information questions. Think of a movie you really like. On a separate sheet of paper, write any answers you can to the questions.
- 1 Who is the movie about?
 - 2 When does the movie take place?
 - 3 Where does the movie take place?
 - 4 In three to five sentences, what is the movie about?
 - 5 What actors are in the movie? Who is the director?
 - 6 (Add your own information question.)
- B Practice focusing on main ideas. In the article, underline any sentences you think are main ideas. Cross out any sentences you think are details.

Thirty years ago, most people in the United States, Canada, and Europe didn't think about what to wear to work in an office. Men always wore suits and ties. Women wore suits or conservative skirt outfits. But in the 1990s, that started to change.

It began with "casual Fridays." During the summer, some companies invited their employees to "dress down," or wear more casual clothes to work on Fridays. The policy quickly became popular with employees. After this, it didn't take long for employees to start dressing more casually every day of the week.

Many employees welcomed the new dress policy and the more comfortable work environment that came with it. Etiquette had definitely changed, and suits and ties were rarely seen in many offices. Some employees went as far as wearing jeans, T-shirts, and sneakers to the office.

Then some people began to change their minds about casual dress at work. Many managers felt that casual dress had led to casual attitudes toward work. Now the etiquette for dress in many companies is beginning to change back again.

After you have completed Exercise B, read this summary of the article. How does it compare with the sentences you underlined in the article?

Thirty years ago, most people in the United States, Canada, and Europe didn't think about what to wear to work in an office. But in the 1990s, that started to change. During the summer, some companies invited their employees to "dress down," or wear more casual clothes to work on Fridays. Then some people began to change their minds about casual dress at work. Now the etiquette for dress in many companies is beginning to change back again.

- C Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 48) Answer each question if you can. If you cannot answer a question, answer the next one. Then use your answers to write the summary within your review.
- 1 What is the title of the reading material you chose?
 - 2 Who is the writer?
 - 3 Who is it about?
 - 4 What is it about?
 - 5 Where does it take place?
 - 6 When does it take place?
 - 7 Why was it written?
 - 8 Why is it important?
 - 9 Did you like it? Why or why not?
 - 10 Would you recommend it to others? Why or why not?

UNIT 5 Organizing detail statements by order of importance

One way to organize supporting details within a paragraph is by order of importance, usually beginning with the most important and ending with the least important. Or, if you wish, it is possible to reverse the order, beginning with the least important and building to the most important.

Imagine you are writing an essay about how to prepare for a trip. Use words and expressions that indicate the relative importance of details to the reader.

First, [OR First and most important,] make sure your passport is up-to-date. Nothing can be worse than arriving at the airport and not being able to get on the plane.

Second, [OR Next, OR Following that,] check the weather for your destination. This will ensure that you bring the right clothes. It's terrible to arrive somewhere and find out that the weather is unusually cold for this time of year. The last thing you want to do is to have to go shopping!

Last, [OR Finally,] write a list of important phone numbers and e-mail addresses of people you have to contact. It can be hard to get that information if you are out of your own country.

- A On a separate sheet of paper, rewrite the paragraph, inserting words to indicate the relative importance of each item.

Here are some things not to forget when preparing for an emergency. Call your relatives who live in other places, telling them where you are so they don't worry. Have a discussion with all family members about the importance of listening to emergency broadcasts. Keep a supply of blankets and warm jackets in case of power outages or flooding. Be sure to follow all emergency instructions carefully. Your life and the life of your family could depend on it.

- B Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 60)
Look at the list of supplies and resources. Number them in order of their importance for the emergency you chose. Write notes about why each one is important. Use your notes to help you write about how to prepare for your emergency.

Type of emergency: _____

Supplies and resources	Notes
non-perishable food bottled water batteries
smart phones
GPS devices medications
phone numbers

Following are two ways to construct the paragraph:

1 Write a topic sentence stating the main idea of the paragraph and then begin describing the details in order of importance.

The severity of an earthquake is determined by several factors. First and most important, the magnitude of the quake can make a huge difference. Really strong earthquakes cause lots of damage, even to well-constructed buildings, no matter where or when they occur. Earthquakes with a Richter reading of 9 or over are uniformly catastrophic. The second most important factor is location, . . . etc.

2 Write a topic sentence that states the details in the order of importance.

The severity of an earthquake is determined by four factors, in order of importance: magnitude, location, quality of construction, and timing. The magnitude of an earthquake is by far the most significant factor in its destructive power . . . etc.

UNIT 6 Dividing an essay into topics

Look at the picture in the Oral Review on page 73. The picture tells the story of the lives of Michael and Carlota. It is divided into three topics, each with a date and a topic heading. The headings help the viewer see at a glance how the story will be organized.

Similarly, if a piece of writing contains more than one section or topic, it is sometimes helpful to include topic headings each time a new section begins. Each topic heading signals the topic of the paragraph or section in the way a table of contents in a book tells a reader what the sections will be about.

- A Read the short biography of famous Dutch painter Vincent Van Gogh. Write your own topic headings to divide the biography into sections.

Early Life

Vincent Van Gogh was born in a small village in Holland on March 30, 1853. He was an introverted child, and he didn't have many friends. But his younger brother, Theo, was one of them. As he grew up, Vincent became interested in drawing—and he was very good at it.

In 1886, Vincent Van Gogh moved to Paris to live with Theo, who collected and sold paintings. In Paris, he met other artists and was influenced by their work. He also became interested in Japanese art and collected woodblock prints.

In 1888, he moved to Arles, a town in southern France. The artist Paul Gauguin moved there, too, and they became good friends. But they didn't have much money. Van Gogh often became sad and could not paint.

After a while, Van Gogh recovered and began to paint again. He sent some paintings to Paris, but he could not sell them. Then, in 1890, early on a Sunday evening, Van Gogh went out to the countryside with his paints. He took out a gun and shot himself in the chest. In his short, sad life, Van Gogh painted 200 paintings. He sold only one of them.

- B Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 72) Use headings like these to organize your autobiography by topic. Under each heading, write notes of facts that belong in that section. Then refer to those notes as you write your autobiography.

Some headings:

My parents My birth My childhood
My studies (other)

UNIT 7 Descriptive details

To describe an event, be sure to provide descriptive details that express these four senses:

- | | |
|--------------|--|
| sight | The fireworks are like beautiful red and yellow flowers in the sky.
There is a huge parade with thousands of people, and everyone is smiling. |
| sound | As you walk down the street, you can hear music and people singing.
The fireworks are as loud as thunder, and you have to cover your ears. |
| smell | You can smell the meat grilling on the street.
Everything smells delicious, and you can't wait to eat! |
| taste | The pastries are as sweet as honey, and you can't stop eating them.
The dish has the sour taste of lemon. |

Try using these patterns in some of your details.

like

This traditional dessert looks like a beautiful white cloud.

as . . . as

When it is in season, this local fruit is as sweet as sugar.

so . . . that

The decorations in the street are so colorful that you feel like a child seeing them for the first time.

- A On a separate sheet of paper, write a sentence that expresses one of the four senses for each of the topics. Try to use like, as . . . as, and so . . . that in some of your sentences.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 Describe a smell in someone's kitchen. | 5 Describe something you see early in the morning. |
| 2 Describe a sound in your classroom. | 6 Describe something you hear at a park. |
| 3 Describe the taste of your favorite food. | 7 Describe something you see at a park. |
| 4 Describe the taste of something you liked as a child. | |

- B Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 84) Write the names of the two holidays you chose. Then, under the name of each holiday, make a list of sights, sounds, smells, and tastes associated with it. Use these details in your writing.

UNIT 8 Summary statements

When a piece of writing contains several paragraphs, the ideas are often summarized in a paragraph at the end. Including a final summary statement reminds the reader of the main ideas that were presented. Read the short essay to the right. Notice the summary statement at the end.

After a problem or a breakdown, many drivers say, "If I had only had a spare tire, I would have been able to fix it and be on my way in a few minutes." Here are the things responsible drivers should never forget. First, a flashlight with working batteries can help you repair your car in the dark. Second, a spare tire can save you hours of waiting for help. You can't change that tire without a jack. If your car breaks down at night, flares can warn oncoming traffic that you are stopped. And if your battery dies, jumper cables can help you start the car again.

No matter how high-tech a car you have, breakdowns can happen at a moment's notice. However, we can plan ahead and be equipped with some simple technology to prevent a problem from becoming worse.

A Read the paragraphs and underline the main ideas. Then write your own summary statement.

There are a number of excellent presentation graphics technologies available today. Two well-known ones are Microsoft Office's PowerPoint™ and Macintosh's Keynote™. No matter which technology you use, here are some do's and don'ts that will make your presentation more successful.

First, the do's: Keep your slides concise. Keep the amount of text to a minimum because it's hard for the audience to focus on your main points if there's too much text. Use large letters (from 18 to 48 points) and simple, easy-to-read fonts. Use bullets to separate items in a list. Use just a few colors and keep that color scheme consistent throughout the presentation. If you project your slides in a bright room, light-colored text on dark backgrounds will be easiest to read.

What should a presenter avoid? Don't use all capital letters. They are hard to read. Never use dark letters on a dark background. The presentation will be hard to see. Don't use sound effects that are unrelated to the meaning of your presentation and avoid distracting transitions.

When presenting from a PowerPoint or Keynote presentation, look at your computer screen or handheld notes, not the screen the audience is looking at—to do that you would have to turn away from your audience and you would lose contact with the people you are presenting to.

Your summary statement:

B Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 96) After you have completed writing about the advantages, disadvantages, and historical impact of your invention or discovery, circle the main ideas in each paragraph. Use the main ideas to write a summary statement for your final paragraph.

UNIT 9 Contrasting ideas

The following language helps organize information by contrasting it. It signals to the reader that a contrasting idea will follow.

in contrast
on the one hand / on the other hand however nevertheless even though

A technique to help organize contrasting ideas is to make two lists: pros (arguments in favor) and cons (arguments against).

To the right are handwritten notes a student made to prepare an essay that presents arguments for and against the mandatory use of a motorcycle helmet. The actual essay can be organized in two ways:

- the pros and cons are presented together in contrasting sentences in each paragraph, or
- as two paragraphs with the ideas in favor in one paragraph and the ideas against in another.

Pros	Cons
-injuries will be less serious in case of accidents	-it limits a person's freedom
-lives will be saved	-people should drive carefully to prevent most accidents
-medical costs will be lower in case of accidents	-if people think they are protected and safe from injury when they use a helmet, they might not drive carefully
-people don't have good judgment, so the government has to make decisions for them	-the government shouldn't interfere in the decisions of adults
-looks cool	-messes up your hair

- A The essay is organized into two paragraphs. Read the essay and write the main idea of each paragraph.

Should motorcycle drivers be required to wear helmets?

Main idea:

Many cities and countries have laws requiring motorcycle drivers to wear a helmet. In some ways, these laws are good and effective. For example, it is well known that motorcycle driving is very dangerous. If a motorcycle collides with another vehicle, the driver of the motorcycle has no protection and is often injured or killed. Most fatal injuries are caused by the driver's head hitting the pavement. On the one hand, such injuries are often not survivable. But on the other hand, if a driver is wearing a helmet, the chance of fatal head injury is reduced. Unfortunately, even though drivers know that helmet use could save their lives, many think an accident won't happen to them. However, if there is a law requiring drivers to wear helmets, a lack of judgment won't matter. Drivers will have no choice but to wear the helmet.

Main idea:

Nevertheless, there are arguments against compulsory helmet-use laws. Some people feel that wearing a helmet causes drivers to have a false sense of security. In other words, drivers may feel that when they are wearing a helmet, they don't have to drive carefully. With a helmet, they feel they have a justification for reckless driving. In contrast, other people object to helmet laws because they feel that the government shouldn't interfere with the decisions of adults. They argue that if they get hurt, it's their own responsibility, and if they die, it doesn't hurt anyone but themselves. People who have this opinion often complain about government intrusion in personal freedom.

UNIT 10 Organizing by spatial relations

To describe a place, organize details according to spatial relations. Choose a starting point (for example, the capital city or the largest city). Describe its location.

Lima is the capital of Peru. It is located on the west coast, on the Pacific Ocean.

The largest city in China is Shanghai. It is located in the southeast, along the East China Sea.

Describe where things are located in relation to that point. Choose a logical order to follow, such as north to south or west to east, so it is easy for the reader to understand.

- To the [north] of
To the north of São Paulo is the city of Campinas.
- In the [south] of
In the south of the island is the city of Kaosiung.
- [East] of
East of Tokyo is the city of Chiba.
- Next to
Next to Washington, D.C., is the city of Baltimore.
- In the middle / center of
In the center of the country is the city of Madrid.
- Along the [coast / river]
Along the coast, and west of the capital, are the cities of Valparaíso and Viña del Mar.
- At the start of
At the start of the Pan-American Highway is the city of Fairbanks, Alaska.
- At the end of
At the end of the Volga River is the Caspian Sea.

Here are three possible ways to organize details by spatial relations.

- A On a separate sheet of paper, write a description for each of these places, using the language above. (Use the map on the page shown.)

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|----------------------------|
| 1 Cobán (page 112) | 4 Mexico (page 112) |
| 2 Denali National Park (page 121) | 5 Alice Springs (page 113) |
| 3 Sydney (page 113) | 6 Juneau (page 121) |

- B Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 120) Draw a simple map of the place you chose. Write numbers on your map for at least two important places, beginning with 1 for the location you will start from, 2 for the next location, and so on. Then use your map to help you write your descriptions, using the language of spatial relations.
